Stakeholder Analysis

Stakeholders are the people and groups who influence Gravity or benefit from its services. Understanding their expectations helps the team shape relevant marketing services, coordinate its work, and evaluate project outcomes.

Stakeholder Group	Interests, Needs, and Benefits
Professional Network	Includes professional contacts, potential clients, and collaborators. The network can benefit from useful connections and marketing expertise, while Gravity can gain referrals, feedback, and partnership opportunities through professional communication and reliable delivery.

Stakeholder Group	Interests, Needs, and Benefits
Startups	Often need affordable, flexible marketing that builds brand awareness and attracts early leads. Gravity can support them with focused strategies, content, and paid campaigns that reflect their priorities and available budgets.
Brand and Business Owners	Need a consistent brand presence, audience engagement, customer inquiries, and measurable campaign results. They benefit from social media management, content marketing, and advertising tailored to their goals, audience, and budget.
DEPI	The Digital Egypt Pioneers Initiative benefits from seeing participants apply digital marketing skills in a practical project. The project can demonstrate planning, collaboration, and track-related learning through organized, reviewable deliverables.
CLS	As the cohort and learning context connected to the project, CLS benefits from a clear record of the group's progress and application of the track objectives. The team should present organized milestones, responsibilities, and project outputs.
Team Members	Need clear responsibilities, coordinated deadlines, effective communication, and access to the tools required for their roles. Each member benefits from practical experience, constructive feedback, and portfolio-ready work that shows individual contributions and teamwork.
